Employment Training Panel Approves More Than $8.4 Million To Train 9,100 Workers

Includes $950,000 for Apprenticeship Training

SACRAMENTO – The State of California’s Employment Training Panel announced the approval of 23 contracts worth more than $8.4 million to train 9,113 workers. One of the contracts approved by the panel includes nearly $950,000 for 470 apprenticeship trainees – including 60 veterans – through the Apprentice and Journeyman Training Trust Fund of Southern California Plumbing and Piping Industry.

“The Employment Training Panel is proud to support apprenticeship training programs that increase career opportunities for Californians while meeting employers’ needs for skilled workers that help to grow businesses,” said Stewart Knox, the Employment Training Panel’s Executive Director.

Since 2012, the Employment Training Panel has awarded over $42 million to train more than 26,000 workers under its apprenticeship program. The Panel’s apprenticeship program has supported 101 contracts, mainly in the building and construction industry.

The apprenticeship training contract approved today will give the Apprentice and Journeymen Training Trust Fund of the Southern California Plumbing and Piping Industry the funds it needs to aid individuals who are working toward completing training requirements of pre-apprentice, apprentice and journeymen training programs approved by the California Division of Apprenticeship Standards. The trust operates 10 training centers that serve Southern California customers and businesses.

“The goal of joint apprenticeship programs in the building trades is to provide members with world class training that will promote productive, highly trained and highly skilled apprentices and journeymen,” said Armando Pulido, Executive Director of the Apprentice and Journeymen Training Trust Fund of Southern California. “Our training prepares them for the changing needs of the industry, maximizes their employability and leads to high paying careers with great benefit packages. ETP funds help us maintain our high standards for training and skilled workers.”

The Employment Training Panel is working with state agencies, such as the Division of Apprenticeship Standards, the Labor and Workforce Development Agency, California Workforce Development Board and the California Community College Chancellor’s Office, as well as employers, labor unions, and other interested parties to expand the apprenticeship model to new sectors of the economy, including healthcare, information technology, and manufacturing.

The Employment Training Panel is the state’s premier program supporting job creation and retention through training. The panel reimburses employers for the costs of training existing workers, funds training for unemployed workers to re-enter the workforce and helps to ensure California businesses have the skilled workers they need to remain competitive.
